

Logan Plan 2025: Managing our growth

shared vision, sustainable future

A growing city of the future

Logan is one of the largest local government areas in Queensland, with well-established urban areas and rural communities set among beautiful natural environments. In coming years, many more people will be calling our city home. We need to think about where our new neighbourhoods, employment areas and facilities will be, and how they will be accessed and serviced. The way we live, work and move about is also changing.

To help us meet these challenges, we are including “Managing our growth” as one of the five pillars of our new planning scheme, Logan Plan 2025.

What do you think?

Have we got our focus right?

Should we encourage more development in areas near our activity centres and transport corridors?

What do we want, and not want, in our existing and emerging neighbourhoods?

Get involved

We'd love to know what you think about the Managing our growth pillar as part of Logan Plan 2025.

Key elements

We need to guide growth and development in our city in a way that considers many factors. In developing our Logan Plan 2025, we need to consider:

Our established areas

We want the right kind of growth in our established areas that re-invests in existing infrastructure and facilities, while protecting our neighbourhoods and preserving the lifestyle we value.

Our emerging areas

We need to cater for the different types of housing, employment and other services our new communities need, and encourage coordinated growth in the right areas to allow the affordable delivery of infrastructure such as roads, water and parks.

Our centres

We plan for the right mix of business, investment and services across our network of activity centres to meet the needs of our local communities and the broader region.

Valuing design

We encourage high quality, attractive, well-designed and functional developments that leverage opportunities for efficiency and sustainability.

Together, we're shaping our city and our future.
